

DISTURBS CHURCH CLASS.

Had Strange Name as Rev. J. Walker
 Interrupting the meeting of a study class in the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, West 14th Street last night, a man giving his name as the Rev. J. Walker Harris was removed by ambulance surgeons and will be taken to Bellevue Hospital to-day for observation.

His peculiar actions caused the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Christian Bremer, to suspend an ambitious young Episcopalian, who said that his nearest friend was Edward Prince of No. 2 Toledo Street, Elmhurst, L. I. He said he had no time at present to say he was at one of the Leaning Hotel, Amsterdam Avenue and 14th Street.

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do what calomel cannot do without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nuxy, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. E. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are pure vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.—Adv.

AVIATOR TAKEN FROM LINER HERE; IS HELD AS SPY

Wrede Had Smuggled Motor Aboard and Carried Many Aeroplane Parts.

An aviator, believed to be employed by the German Imperial Navy, though he declares he is a Finn, will be turned over to the Federal authorities to-day. He is understood to have given the name Kaaper Wrede, twenty-seven years old.

The arrest was made on the liner Bergensfjord while she was preparing to sail yesterday with alien diplomats for Norway. He had been under observation since reaching the pier, and his hand baggage had been marked. He thought he had evaded examination, not knowing he had been purposely allowed to go aboard.

He went up the gangplank carrying a leather handbag weighing fifty pounds. For half an hour he strolled about the deck watching the examination of others. Then a Federal deputy suddenly took him into a stateroom to search him. According to Federal officials, 500 cartridges were found in his pockets and travelling bag. An automatic pistol was found in a special inside pocket of his overcoat.

In his grip were specifications of aeroplanes and about fifty parts of aeroplane mechanism. The walking stick he had been carrying had been part of the motor shaft of an aeroplane. There were notations in German on some of the drawings.

The prisoner said he had three pieces of baggage in the hold and that one contained an aeroplane motor. It was produced and proved to have been smuggled aboard. A quantity of personal correspondence taken from him will be examined to-day. After he had been taken to the Greenwich Street Police Station in Manhattan he displayed a large roll of bills and said he had plenty of money in New York banks. He said he was on his way to Norway to give exhibition flights.

It was said there was reason to think the prisoner formerly was in the employ of the Hamburg-American line, and it was asserted that among his papers were photographic plates of fortifications along the Atlantic Coast and of bridges near New York, including one of the big East River bridges.

6-CENT FARE IN HUNTINGTON

Public Service Board Grants Plea of Trolley Company.

ALBANY, Nov. 21.—Permission to increase its fare from 5 to 6 cents was granted to-day to the Huntington Railroad Company by the Up-State Public Service Commission.

The company operates a street railroad between Huntington Harbor and Amityville, L. I. There was no dispute that the company required increased revenue to enable it to pay operating expenses.

TOO LATE TO GET WAR INSURANCE AFTER FEB. 12

Secretary McAdoo Warns Fighters and Nurses of Time Limit.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—All officers and enlisted men and nurses in the army and navy were urged in an address issued today by Secretary McAdoo to apply to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance at Washington for Government life insurance before Feb. 12 next.

Failure to apply by that date, he explained, would bar them from the benefits of what he characterized as "the greatest measure of protection ever offered to its fighting forces by any nation in the history of the world." Dependents of any man killed before that time, however, will receive insurance payments, regardless of whether applications were made, inasmuch as the Government considers all of them insured automatically until then.

"To care for the wife and children of the enlisted man during his service," said Secretary McAdoo, "the War Insurance Law compels him to contribute up to one-half of his pay for their support. The Government, in application, will add to this an allowance of from $5 to $20 a month, according to the size of the family.

Moreover, if the enlisted man will make some further provision himself for a dependent parent, brother, sister, or grandchild, they may be included in the Government allowance. "If as a result of injuries incurred or disease contracted in the line of duty an officer or enlisted man or an army or navy nurse should be disabled, provision is made for compensation of from $30 to $100 a month to him, and should he die, compensation of from $20 to $75 a month will be paid to his wife, his child or his widowed mother.

"Every soldier and sailor and nurse, commissioned and enlisted, and of any age, has the right, between now and February 12, 1918, to take out life and total disability insurance up to $10,000 at very low cost, with the Government, without medical examination. This right is purely optional. "The soldiers and sailors are not compelled to take insurance, but if they desire to exercise the right they must do so before Feb. 12. The cost ranges from 65 cents monthly at the age of twenty-one to $1.20 monthly at the age of fifty-one, for each $1,000 of insurance. This is a small charge on a man's pay—small in proportion to the benefits it may bring. The premiums will be deducted from his pay if he desires, thus eliminating trouble on his part.

"To provide adequate protection until Feb. 12, during the period when the soldiers and sailors are learning the details of this law, the Government automatically insures each man and woman commissioned or enlisted in the military service of the United States. It pays the man $25 a month during total permanent disability; if he dies within twenty years it pays the rest of 240 monthly installments of $25 each to his wife, child or widowed mother."

BRITISH LEADER URGES POLITICAL DRIVE ON KAISER

Arthur Henderson Says Wilson Foresaw Possibilities of This Weapon in War.

LONDON, Nov. 21. (United Press).—The Allies should not abandon their political offensive against Germany, according to Arthur Henderson, because in many respects it is the most dangerous offensive the House of Hohenzollern has to face.

"Look at this item in the paper," said the labor leader.

The item reported the address of the Crown Prince to the latest batch of German boys brought to the western front to join their fathers and brothers. "There are powers at work attempting to sow discord between the German people and their sovereign, knowing Germany otherwise is invincible," said the Crown Prince. "It is your work also to prevent this."

"Of course Germany is not 'other-wise invincible,'" said Henderson. "The Crown Prince pretends not to fear the Allies' military efforts, but he shows great concern regarding their ability to make a wide breach by other means between the Kaiser and his people. The real position is that the German Kaiser and his High Command realize that their military plans have failed. They are now at pains to prevent their military failure leading to a political upheaval at home.

"Military victory is not the final aim of the Allies. It is a means to an end. It is sought in order to enable them to achieve a peace that will make the world safe for democracy.

"We are at war with the Kaiser and Kaiserism, and personally I do not want to see any peace made with Kaiserism. If the peace settlement is to have any prospect of durability it must be made with the German people and not with the Kaiser.

"President Wilson, who has a profound knowledge of real politics, and whose utterances come nearer to the ideals of Democracy than those of any other Allied statesman, has seen the possibilities of the use of the political weapon in this war, and he has courageously defined the important difference between the German people and its autocratic rulers. In this differentiation I fully concur with President Wilson, and I strongly advocate a political offensive in order to widen the breach between Kaiserism and the German people.

"By a 'political offensive' I do not mean that Great Britain should resort to the use of unscrupulous diplomatic practices as Germany has done. The British people would not tolerate them. But I do say that they should make a wise and discriminate use of legitimate political methods, which are open and above board and which mean elimination of secret diplomacy.

"If we really desire to see a democratic Germany we should do all in our power to strengthen the democratic elements in Germany. If we intend that peace when it comes shall be a democratic and lasting peace made by democratically elected representatives of all the peoples concerned, surely it would be better to address our speeches not to the German Imperial Chancellor, who is the servant of the Kaiser, but to the elected representatives of the German people."

"So long as military effort is necessary, there must be no slackening on the part of the Allies, but that is no reason why side by side with such effort we should not attempt, by a wise and sensible use of the political weapon, to hasten the settlement of the war by a peace which shall be just, honorable and democratic."

JOHN H. GOLDFRAP DIES.
 Evening World Reporter Loses Long Fight for Life.

John H. Goldfrap, of the staff of The Evening World, died to-day in the Seaside Hospital on Staten Island of tuberculosis. He had been ill four months. Mr. Goldfrap was forty years old. He was born in England and received his first newspaper training in San Francisco, coming from that city to New York twelve years ago, when he joined The Evening World staff. Subsequently he severed his connection with the newspaper and for several years wrote fiction, afterward entering the moving picture field as a scenario writer and publicity agent.

He returned to The Evening World staff last spring as a general reporter. In July he contracted pneumonia which developed into tuberculosis. Treatment at a sanatorium in the Catskill Mountains was ineffective and he was brought back to New York and placed in Seaside Hospital a few days ago. Mr. Goldfrap is survived by his wife. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

TRIES TO BURN 16 FAMILIES.

"House Full of People I Don't Like," Says Dancing Firebug.

"This house is full of people that I don't like—so I thought I'd burn 'em up."

Such was the explanation offered by a trouserless man who was caught dancing gleefully around a bonfire in the hallway of a sixteen-family house at No. 52 East Fourth Street at 4 o'clock this morning.

Patrolman Sheehy roused tenants and helped them put out the fire, which did little damage. Then he arrested the dancer, who said he was Richard White, and that he lived "here and there." He will be taken to Bellevue Hospital for observation.
